POST-MILITARY PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Sabio LA	Los Angeles
Software Developer	July 2017 - Present

Member of a team building an optimized and open source progressive note-taking web-app and archiving tool, similar to Evernote, but with enhanced search capabilities and features.
-Coded SpeechSynthesis API into project, allowing users to have highlighted text read back aloud.
-Wrote custom C# web scraper that retrieves the first list page of blog entries from any Reddit URL extension the user inputs, and displays them as markdown formatted links inside of automatically populated note-cards.
-Integrated Stack Overflow API (ASP.NET Web API 2) into platform that allows user to search stackoverflow.com for coding queries, retrieves all entries that match search, and auto-scrolls to the site-approved answer.
-Wired external library, IntroJs, into platform, providing an informative tutorial on the capabilities of the web-app upon visiting the page.
-Coded a markdown-to-HTML converter which allows users to create content in with markdown syntax.
-Coded a markup-to-HTML converter which gives users access to an HTML fiddle inside of the note-taking platform.
-2017 Automobility Los Angeles 24-Hour Hackathon by Honda Innovations-Addressed mobility challenges posed to a dynamic city like Los Angeles when hosting a major event. The team I participated with developed an application that solved biker visibility issues to make biking safer in the city. We used Waze API and recursive timeout functions to push HTML geolocations to Waze drivers to alert drivers that were in close proximity of an active bike rider.
